

Build a Gateway to College for Out-of-School Youth

Achieving the Dream | GATEWAY to COLLEGE

Gateway to College Provides Disconnected Youth a Pathway to Self-Sufficiency in their Communities with a High School Diploma and Meaningful College Credentials.

Nationally, about 15 percent of high school students do not make it to graduation on time. There are many reasons for this, and the impact of not receiving a high school diploma is profound. Through Gateway to College, students who have dropped out of high school, or are significantly off track, complete their high school diplomas in college-based programs while simultaneously earning credits toward a postsecondary credential.

Gateway to College is a financially sustainable program which connects K-12 school districts with colleges and leverages a national network of peers and expertise. The key to success for Gateway to College students is the holistic student support that helps them overcome barriers and gain the confidence, skills, and credentials they need for a self-sufficient future.
