

Change Management for Mid-Level Leaders

SEMINAR SERIES

Introducing a dynamic, nine-month professional learning series designed for mid-level college leaders ready to drive student-centered change

Mid-level leaders are the engines of transformation in community colleges — translating vision into action, bridging departments, and implementing strategies that directly impact student success.

This immersive seminar series combines virtual learning, on-campus engagement, and peer networking to equip leaders with practical change management tools and frameworks. Through experiences that range from guiding data-informed transformation to leading inclusively through complex shifts, participants emerge prepared to champion organizational change, cultivate resilience, and build cultures of belonging and continuous improvement across their institutions.

WHAT YOU'LL GAIN

- Immediate Impact: A Change Initiative Plan and a Professional Learning Plan — aligned with institutional goals
- Strategic Resources: Tools to align strategic planning with equitable student outcomes
- Leadership Network: Access to a community of peers and expert facilitators
- Recognition: A Credly badge in student-centered leadership

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Deans and directors of workforce, academic, and student affairs as well as institutional directors who are

- driving student success initiatives
- leading cross-campus collaborations
- serving as change agents focused on sense of belonging and holistic student supports

Don't miss this chance to lead the change your campus — and your students — deserve.

Reserve your spot today and help shape a future where everyone can thrive. Connect and learn more by emailing atdservices@achievingthedream.org